Drawings

The drawings were received on December 14, 2006. These drawings are not accepted. While the applicant has addressed most of the drawing concerns, the dashing of the lines of element 18 is not complete. Where the leader line for dashed element 18 meets the element there is a solid line. The dashing is also difficult to see with the line type chosen by the applicant, however it is sufficient once all lines for one position of element 18 are shown as being dashed. The other drawing changes are correct. A new drawing is required following the guidelines in the previous office action.

Response to Amendment

The amendments to the claims have been entered into the record. The amendments to the drawings are not acceptable at this time.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1-18 and 60-78 are allowed for the reasons set forth in the final office action mailed on November 14, 2006.
